

2006 年度

|  |  |   |
|--|--|---|
| 科目名Writing I -1   | 対象学科・学年文学部英米1回生                    | 担当者ジョーンズ |
| 授業テーマStudents' will develop basic writing skills in a variety of formats and topics through structured and self-chosen writing assignments.  |  |   |
| 授業の概要と目標The aims of this course are to develop Students' writing abilities on several levels: choosing topics and getting ideas, reviewing basic grammar and vocabulary necessary to write in a variety of formats, organizing ideas into paragraphs and longer compositions, and expressing their own opinions and narratives.  |  |   |
| 評価方法Students will be graded on class work and on several longer writing assignments. Depending on students' needs, grammar and other reviews and exercises will be given. For each lengthy assignment, 2 grades will be given: one for grammar, spelling, format, etc., and the other for creativity and ideas. Students will be required to finish a 1300-word , non-graded, journal.   |  |   |
| テキストParagraph Writing  | 著者Dorothy E. Zemach & Carlos Islam | 出版社MacMillan Languagehouse                      |
| 参考書A Japanese-English dictionary is useful for this class  | 著者                                     | 出版社   |
| 授業スケジュール・内容First Semester:Weeks 1-3    Review of the basicsWhat is a paragraph?Finding topics and getting ideasWeeks 4-6    Writing about yourselfFilling out formsLetters: formal and informalWeeks 7-9    Describing placesJoining ideas into phrases and compound sentencesWeeks 10-12    Daily activities: organizing ideas by timeShort narrativesWeeks 13-15    Describing people(1500 words in journal due) |  |   |