

2008 年度

科目名 Speaking II -1	対象学科・学年 文学部英米2回生	担当者 ジョーンズ
授業テーマ Students will present more complicated situational skits, speeches, and have ad lib conversations on a variety of topics.
授業の概要と目標 This course's aims are to develop students' skills in communicating orally by having them write and present short skits, having ad lib conversations on prepared topics, and give impromptu and prepared speeches. The emphasis will be on developing students' abilities to think quickly, respond adequately to various situations or questions, express their own opinions, and creatively use the English they have learned. A prime consideration is getting students to relax in the face of the unknown and listen to a partner, rather than simply memorize scripts.
評価方法 Students will be graded on both smooth, practiced presentations, both individually and as part of a group. Both quantity (i.e. asking and answering questions in timed conversations) and quality of English will be graded. Attendance is necessary to participate in class activities. Written homework will be necessary to prepare for some activities.
テキスト Activator	著者 Tadashi Shiozawa & Thomas L. Simmons	出版社 Kinseido
参考書 An Japanese-English dictionary is useful for this class	著者	出版社
授業スケジュール・内容 A variety of class activities will be used. The number of classes for each activity varies from one to three. Group presentations require three classes; impromptu speeches, only one. The textbook will be used as a reference and to find and practice basic spoken English forms. Topics used in previous years include the following. Topics and activities may change in 2008. The order and number of sessions for each activity will depend on the level and previous knowledge of the students. A selection of these topics will be chosen for First Semester: Basic conversation gambits How to be a good conversationalist Preparing for a topic and having ad lib conversations with a surprise partner Rude and polite speech Shopping and discussing problems Restaurant and ordering Travel: making arrangements, hotel reservations, taxis, etc. Explaining and asking questions about Japanese culture Having conversations about a specified topic (vacations) and telling the class about your partners Doing research and making reports on conservation efforts in Japan Demonstrating and telling the class how to do something Speech topics: the Best Advice I ever Had, The Person I Respect Most, How to Improve the Japanese School System, etc.		